DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In regards to the merits of Sacks et al (US 6,377,414) in the previous Non Final Rejection filed 11/21/2006, the applicants' arguments that Sacks does not teach the features of that the step forming at least one alignment feature between an inner diameter and an outer diameter of each of a plurality of discs have been found to be persuasive.

Accordingly, the previous Non-Final-Rejection has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kuo et al. (US 6,940,678).

As applied to claim 1 and 2, Kuo et al disclose a method of forming a disc pack, the method comprising: (a) forming at least one alignment (50, Fig. 1) feature between an inner diameter (2) and an outer diameter as read radial (24) of each of a plurality of discs; and c) utilizing the at least one alignment feature of a first disc (10) of the plurality of discs and the at least one alignment feature of a second disc of the plurality of discs to substantially vertically align servo patterns on the first disc with servo patterns on the second disc (see column 8, claim 13).

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuo et al in view of Magee and further in view of Damer et al (US 6,365,061).

As applied to claim 3, Kuo et al modified of Magee the method substantially as claimed above. However, the modified method of Magee does not teach that step (a) comprises removing at least one segment from each of the plurality of discs.

Damer et al teach the removing at least one segment from each of the plurality of discs (column 3, lines 13-35). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at this time the invention was made to have modified the method of Sacks et al by including a step of removing at least one segment from each of the plurality of discs, as taught by Damer et al, to provide at recognized equivalent servo tracks in each of the disc pack.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 4-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
